Introduction

This LibGuide was created to accompany the Visions & Voices event: Queer Aesthetics and Archival Practices, on Tuesday January 24th, at 7:00 pm in the Doheny Memorial Library Friends Lecture Hall, Room 240. Read more about the event at the Visions & Voices website.

About the event: "Queer Aesthetics and Archival Practices will feature artists and scholars who will discuss the practical and theoretical aspects of 'the archive' and its relationship to contemporary art today. Moderated by curator and performer Malik Gaines, the panel will feature Ann Cvetkovich, professor of English and women's and gender studies at the University of Texas at Austin; Catherine Lord, professor of studio art at UC Irvine; and Ulrike Müller, artist and coeditor of the queer feminist art journal LTRR."

California-Related Archival Collections

Huntington Library This website provides key information about the library as well as access to its online catalogue.

LA as Subject Hosted by USC Libraries, LA as Subject is an alliance of research archives, libraries, and collections dedicated to preserving the rich history of the Los Angeles region.

Online Archive of California The OAC brings together historical materials from a variety of California institutions, including museums, historical societies, and archives.

Seaver Center for Western History Research The purpose of the Seaver Center is to collect, preserve, and make accessible to the general public research materials documenting the history of the trans-Mississippi West, with special emphasis on Southern California and Los Angeles. The collection includes manuscripts, books, serials, pamphlets, broadsides, maps, posters, prints, and photographs.

Southern California Library The SCL documents and preserves the histories of communities in struggle for justice and uses its collections to address the challenges of the present.

Special Collections USC's Special Collections offer access to a wide range of primary source material in all formats, including resources of interest to researchers in US History. Special Collections encompass rare books, manuscripts, and archival collections. In addition to housing a high proportion of rare and unique materials, Special Collections also contains many thematic special collections whose individual parts may not be 'valuable' or 'rare', but, as an aggregate, constitute a historically significant body of material. Search Special Collections

USC Digital Library The USC Digital Archive helps to fulfill the mission of the USC Libraries to select, collect, preserve, and make accessible high quality digital images of unique materials with metadata to support research, and provides a gateway to resources on Los Angeles and Southern California.

Archive-Related Databases and Web Sites

Archives USA The ArchivesUSA database provides information about primary source materials from nearly 4,800 US manuscript repositories. ArchivesUSA includes records, complete with detailed indexes, about nearly 109,000 manuscript and other special collections.

Historical Text Archive: History of the United States The HTA publishes high quality articles, books, essays, documents, historical photos, and links, screened for content, for a broad range of historical subjects. It was founded in 1990 in Mississippi and is one of the oldest history sites on the Internet.

Internet Archive Offers permanent access for researchers, historians, and scholars to historical collections that exist in digital format, including texts, audio, moving images, and software as well as archived web pages.

Library of Congress Finding Aids Allows users to search for materials in the Library of Congress's repositories and collections.

National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) Established in 1934 by President Franklin Roosevelt to permanently preserve the nation's most important documents, NARA's major holdings date back to 1775. They capture the sweep of the past: slave ship manifests and the Emancipation Proclamation; captured German records and the Japanese surrender documents from World War II; journals of polar expeditions and photographs of Dust Bowl farmers; Indian treaties making transitory promises; and the Louisiana Purchase Treaty that doubled the territory of the young republic. NARA keeps only those Federal records that are judged to have continuing value—about 2 to 5 percent of those generated in any given year; however, this amounts to billions of pages of documentation.

NUCMC Repositories of Primary Sources A listing of over 5000 websites describing holdings of manuscripts, archives, rare books, historical photographs, and other primary sources for the research scholar

ONE National Gay and Lesbian Archives The world's largest research collection related to lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender history

WorldCat WorldCat contains more than 32 million records describing items owned by libraries around the world. Item records provide

Featured Book on LGBTIQ Archives

Serving LGBTIQ Library and Archives Users : Essays on Outreach, Service, Collections and Access

"Greenblatt (the U. of Colorado's Auraria Library) presents perspectives on providing library services to lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, intersex, and queer/questioning (LGBTIQ) patrons in academic and public libraries. The collection features essays and profiles of libraries, archives, professionals, and projects, some of which integrate personal stories of contributors' own experiences as LGBTIQ patrons. The essays are grouped in sections highlighting new communities and connections, library and archive contexts and venues, collection development, bibliographic access, and censorship of LGBTIQ resources. The book's final set of essays examines professional concerns such as library education and networking. Some specific areas of discussion include LGBTIQ oral history, barriers to selecting materials about sexual and gender diversity, the treatment of LGBTIQ concepts in Library of Congress subject headings, and censorship of children's and young adult books in schools and public libraries. The book includes a glossary of LGBTIQ terms." -- Annotation
