The USC Chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi all-university honor society is pleased to announce the 37th-annual Phi Kappa Phi Faculty Recognition Awards competition. The presentation of awards will take place at the annual Academic Honors Convocation in spring 2020. Phi Kappa Phi will present four awards of $1,000 to USC faculty for works created at USC.

All full-time and part-time faculty associated with degree-granting programs are eligible to submit or have their works submitted for consideration. Self-nomination is the most frequent form of submittal. Phi Kappa Phi also welcomes nominations from deans, department chairs, and faculty colleagues. The attached nomination form should accompany the submission.

The recipients of the awards are chosen by a faculty committee. The award recognizes major achievements in research, contributions to knowledge, and artistic creativity. Scholarly and creative works in any of the categories listed below are eligible for consideration. Where submissions are co-authored or co-produced, a clear statement should indicate the contribution of the USC faculty member(s). Phi Kappa Phi encourages nominators to include representative published reviews of nominated works. Eligible works previously considered may be resubmitted. Only one submission per faculty member may be entered annually.

Eligibility

1. Books published within the last three calendar years (2016-2019).

2. A set of articles that represents a significant body of original work with a coherent theme and published within the last three calendar years (2016-2019). The articles should be accompanied by a statement (500-1,000 words) that summarizes the findings in the articles, demonstrates how they form a coherent body of work, and describes their impact within a field and, if relevant, beyond that field. (Although not limited to disciplines where scholarly articles, rather than books, are the normal channel of publication, this category is intended specifically to elicit submissions from such disciplines).

3. A creative arts exhibition to recognize achievements of faculty in disciplines where the form of publication is through any of a variety of creative endeavors rather than scholarly books or articles. These materials, which might include the originals when they are a set of photographs, or descriptive writing and photographs when they include sculptures or buildings, or recordings of original music, should generally not take up more space than is contained in a large manila envelope.

Submit books, articles, or creative endeavors to: Phi Kappa Phi, University of Southern California Libraries, Doheny Library (DML) 101, MC 0182, attention: Samantha King. The deadline for submission is Wednesday, December 11th, 2019 at 4:30 pm.
USC PHI KAPPA PHI FACULTY RECOGNITION PROGRAM FOR 2019-2020

Deadline for Receipt of Entry: Wednesday, December 11, 2019, at 4:30 pm
Doheny Memorial Library (DML) 101, MC 0182. ATTN: Samantha King

Nominator Name (author's name if self-nominating):

Title:

Department:

Campus Address: Phone:

Email:

Please describe the submission, including the author's name (if not a self-nomination):

Book (published between 2016-2019):

Reprint collection (published between 2016-2019):

Creative endeavor (Photographs, audio recording of original music, sculptures, multimedia, etc.):

If submission is co-authored, the role of each contributor:

I would like to have the submission returned (name & mail code):

Nominator Signature