ABOUT THE CONTEST

The Wonderland Award is an annual multidisciplinary competition that encourages new scholarship and creative work related to Lewis Carroll, the English logician, mathematician, photographer, nonsense poet, and author of Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and its sequel Through the Looking-Glass, and What Alice Found There. The contest encourages the use of the Cassidy Lewis Carroll Collection, held in Doheny Library at USC.

The format for Wonderland Award entries is limited only by the imagination. We accept a broad range of submissions, including performance pieces, scholarly essays, poems, videogames, visual artworks, animation, music, digital compositions, and films.

ABOUT THE CASSADY LEWIS CARROLL COLLECTION

The USC Libraries' Carroll Collection contains more than 4,000 rare books, pamphlets, letters, and other items related to the work of Lewis Carroll. Included are works Carroll inscribed to friends, books from Carroll's own library, copies of Carroll's work from Alice Liddell's library, limited collectors editions, and most works by major illustrators of the Alice stories.

First editions of early translations into German, French, and Italian, and important bibliographic and biographical works stand side-by-side with signed copies of movie scripts, playbills from stage adaptations, Victorian-era playing cards, and pop-up books. Comic books, graphic novels, manga editions, literary parodies, computer games, movies, and original artwork related to Carroll have recently joined the collection.
